Supporting film in school curricula and promoting moving image culture for young audiences.

Welcome to our new Autumn/Winter programme for 2012/2013.

This September at the IFI we are celebrating the launch of our Film Focus report and 20 years of operating from our Eustace Street premises in Temple Bar. Since the schools' programme began, over 200,129 young people have attended our events. They have watched over 460 different film titles including foreign language, mainstream, art house, documentary, Irish and animation. Of the hundreds of films shown to Transition Year students, amongst the most popular are Adam & Paul, Mean Creek and Maria Full of Grace, while the most popular for French and German have been Les Choristes and Good Bye Lenin!

When we look back over the education programmes, what's particularly interesting is to reflect on what has worked, and what hasn't. Each year there are surprises. But what remains a constant is the enthusiasm that schools' audiences have for film – and it's not just about the day out of school. As confirmed by Film Focus research (Pg 11), it's the social aspect, the big screen, the city centre venue, and the different type of film. All of these elements combine to make a cinema visit still a hugely popular activity, despite the fact that it's getting harder each year for teachers to organise. We'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the teachers for supporting us over the years.

Among the great titles for you and your students this term are:

- What Richard Did*
- We are Poets*, with slam poetry workshop
- Frankenweenie*
- Marley*
- Le gamin au vélo*

We look forward to seeing you and your students at IFI.

Working at a petrol station in a small midlands town, Josie's life is monotonous and lonely 'til a new co-worker brings an unexpected opportunity for friendship. But Josie's naivety and trusting nature leave him defenceless against the small town mentality. This poignant film from the director of What Richard Did and Adam & Paul explores themes of isolation, rural life and social problems. A Comparative Study title for 2013/2014.

We are Poets
 Dec 12, 10.30am

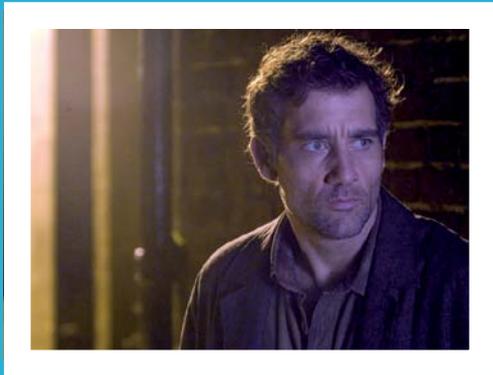

A moving and inspirational story about youth, art and freedom of expression, this documentary follows six teenagers from Leeds who have been chosen to represent the UK at Brave New Voices, the most prestigious slam poetry competition in the world. These remarkable young poets from varied backgrounds explosively reveal the concerns of a generation as they compete to become World Slam Champions. Cinematic, imaginative and deeply personal, We are Poets is a testament to the power of creativity, community and the dynamism of young people.

FREE WORKSHOP: SLAM POETRY

Calling all performers, poets, writers and lyricists!
 In collaboration with Poetry Ireland we are offering 12 students the chance to participate in a series of high-energy slam poetry workshops led by award-winning poet and spoken word performer, Dave Lordan. The participants will learn about performance, writing and the art of slam poetry, and work towards a live performance which will take place on Dec 12th after the above screening.

If you would like to take part, please email and tell us why or send in an example of your work.
e: schools@ifi.ie or contact Dee or Elaine on 01 679 5744 for more information. Open to individual students. Places limited. Closing date: Nov 7.

Children of Men

Jan 16, 10:30am

Alfonso Cuarón's depiction of London in 2027 is loosely based on P.D. James' 1992 novel of the same name. In a society broken down as a result of mass infertility, the authorities have to deal with thousands of displaced people. Although commencing with a bleak view of the future, the film focuses on the themes of hope, redemption and faith. Stunning set pieces combine with great performances from, amongst others, Clive Owen, Michael Caine and Julianne Moore. With references to history, literature, current affairs and art, this new Comparative Study title will provide for plenty of classroom discussion.

Westwind

Jan 17, 10:30am

This story of life behind the Iron Curtain focuses on an East/West romance between East German oarswoman Doreen and Arne from Hamburg. Doreen and her twin sister Isa go to a summer camp together, but when she and Arne meet, their budding friendship threatens the sisters' close relationship. Will their love withstand this tension and the East/West divide too? With a 1980's soundtrack to set the scene, featuring The Cure and Depeche Mode, this enjoyable personal story set against Germany's recent past contrasts with more politically-conscious films such as Das Versprechen or Sonnenallee.

The Kid with a Bike

Oct 17, Nov 8, Jan 22, 10:30am

Our chosen film for this year's French Film Project was a deserving winner of the Grand Prix at Cannes Film Festival 2011. The most recent title from the Dardenne brothers is a portrait of life in their Belgian home town of Seraing. Cyril, 11, is living temporarily in a children's home. Determined to find his missing father and his new, red bike, his tenacity takes him and his audience on a roller-coaster journey of emotions. Learning tough lessons in rejection, the consequences of his actions and the acceptance of love, life is never easy for this stubborn boy in this life-affirming film which will tug at your heart-strings.

Congo: An Irish Affair

Oct 18, Jan 15, 10:30am

PG

This Irish-made documentary takes a look at one of history's forgotten stories, when Irish troops stationed in the Congo during the 1960s, as part of a UN peace keeping mission, became embroiled in what is now known as the Congo Crisis. Using archive footage and interviews with ex-soldiers, the film gives an insight into the situation from a uniquely Irish perspective and provides an opportunity for students to hear moving testimonials from soldiers who served in the country. Useful for Leaving Certificate History Case Study Topic The Secession of Katanga, 1960-1965.

Bill Cunningham New York

Nov 22, 10:30am

Fashion photographer and anti-materialist may seem a contradiction in terms but it describes the life of the disarming and always charming New York Times photographer, Bill Cunningham, subject of this highly entertaining documentary. Beginning his fashion career as a milliner in the 1940s, Cunningham discovered what has become a lifelong passion for capturing street fashion on camera. A recognisable figure both on the streets of Manhattan and the catwalks of Paris Fashion Week, his life is as inspiring as his love of photography. Now in his 80s, Bill Cunningham continues to show the influence, inspiration and fun which street fashion can hold for us all.

Director Kevin Macdonald (Touching the Void) returns to form with this intimate documentary about Rastafarian star and musical hero, Bob Marley. Just over three decades on from his untimely demise, the global popularity of this reggae king remains undiminished. Made with the support of the Marley family and shaped around interviews with those who knew him best, Macdonald tracks Marley's journey from the hills of Trench Town in Kingston, Jamaica, to his rise to international fame. Absorbing, entertaining and informative, this film documents the story of a truly inspirational figure whose music makes for one of the best soundtracks ever to be released.

Summer, 1965, on an island off the coast of New England, two 12-year-olds, Sam and Suzy, meet and make an instant connection. The lonely outsiders become pen-pals for a year before deciding to run away together in what becomes a story of first love, told in Anderson's unique style. The brilliant ensemble cast includes Bill Murray, Frances McDormand and Ed Norton, all playing quirky characters. This hugely enjoyable tale treats the troubles of its young protagonists with the director's usual combination of seriousness and wry humour.

What Richard Did

Oct 9, 10:30am

15A

To mark the launch of our Film Focus report and the release of What Richard Did, the third feature from Lenny Abrahamson (Garage, Adam and Paul), we have exclusive free screenings of this riveting drama for Transition Year students at five different venues. What Richard Did is a striking portrait of the fall of Richard, golden-boy of his privileged set of Dublin teens, whose world unravels one night. The story follows Richard through the summer between the end of school and the beginning of university. Everything seems possible until Richard does something that destroys it all and shatters the lives of the people closest to him. Featuring extraordinary performances from its mainly young cast, this is a quietly devastating study of a boy confronting the gap between who he thought he was and who he proves to be.

Irish writer and director Ian Fitzgibbon's new film is based on an original novel by New Zealander, Anthony McCarten. It's the story of 15-year-old Donald, brilliantly played by Thomas Brodie-Sangster (Love Actually), a typical teenager who possesses an extraordinary imagination and a talent for art. When he is diagnosed with a life-threatening illness, Donald retreats into a fantasy world in order to avoid confronting the painful reality of his life. This world is occupied by his alter ego comic book superhero, where he fights death as a caped crusader. Set in Dublin, with stunning animations intertwining Donald's real and imaginary worlds.

Zarafa

Nov 20, 10:30am

This beautiful 2D animation was inspired by the true story of Zarafa, a giraffe offered as a gift from the Viceroy of Egypt to King Charles X of France in 1827. Maki, 10, befriends the young giraffe, Zarafa. Putting his own life at risk, Maki tries to save his new friend and bring him home to the desert. This rescue mission brings them on dangerous and exciting adventures, from the deserts of Sudan to the snow-capped Alps, and they meet many unusual characters along the way. An ideal introduction to French language cinema.

A blend of documentary and drama, this is a gentle story of father-son bonding in the stunningly beautiful setting of Blanco Chinchorro, a coral reef off the coast of Mexico. 5-year-old Natan, leaves his mother, and his home in Italy, to holiday with his Mexican father. Together they spend a sun-filled idyllic summer. Natan learns the names of the fish his father and grandfather catch. He befriends a wild egret and feeds crocodiles from his al fresco dining room.

Based on real-life events, with a cast playing themselves, the director nevertheless leaves it up to us to decide if this is truly fact or fiction.

Autumn 2012 sees the publication of the findings of our two-year action research project, Film Focus, carried out in collaboration with the Irish Film Board/Bord Scannán na hÉireann, and with the support of the Arts Council. The project was developed and delivered with a host of enthusiastic and committed educators, arts facilitators and interested personnel and it has yielded some fascinating results.

Chief among these is the fact that film and media education lends itself to a range of approaches, teaching and learning styles, all of which bring about immediately measurable positive effects. While projects varied greatly in terms of content, approach and duration, they all shared a conviction that film and media engaged young people and offered an accessible point from which to embark on learning across curricula. Film and media based projects could:

- ▶ Promote participatory, creative and active teaching and learning environments where the teacher was often facilitator
- ▶ Enable students to bring 'out of school' media skills to classroom learning
- ▶ Bolster written and oral literacy in L1 and L2 and English for EAL students
- ▶ Foster media literacy skills which encouraged creative and critical engagement
- ▶ Promote film as an art form and Irish film heritage
- ▶ Highlight how film clubs can create out-of-school communities or motivate learning
- ▶ Utilize film as a way into greater discussions of culture

For more information or a copy of the report see www.ifi.ie/learn

How Media Literate are you?

How media literate are your first years? Do you think they spend too much time social networking? Can they block messages or change privacy settings? Would you like them to be more critical users? The Broadcasting Authority (BAI) of Ireland has commissioned the IFI to carry out a media literacy research project with young people aged 12-13. We are looking for young people all over the country who would be willing to keep a diary of their media usage over the course of one week. This would include:

- ▶ Phoning
- ▶ Texting
- ▶ Social networking
- ▶ Downloading
- ▶ Browsing
- ▶ Gaming

Following this there will be a number of workshops and activities.
